

Problem Statement:

Revise the ERD from problem 2 with test type items. A test type item includes a unique test item identifier, a test item name, test item unit of measure, and a test item description. A test type includes one or more test items. A test item can be part of one or more test types. Do not use an M-N relationship.

Solution:

